

TONNEAU COVER STICKS BAG

Manufactured exactly as original in 'Hardura' bitumen paint sealed felt, the tonneau cover stick bag is not just one for concours entrants, searching out original tools and equipment to display in the boot of their MGB or MGC at classic car shows.

It has three benefits: it preserves your nice new tonneau cover sticks in perfect paint finish order, it stops the tonneau sticks creating unsightly chips and gouges in the boot paintwork and, probably most importantly, it saves the car's occupants from being driven mad by loud rattles from the boot.

Incidentally, ever wondered where the phrase 'tonneau cover' comes from? Tonnel was a French word (no, really) which originally meant 'cask' or 'barrel' and was corrupted and adopted by car manufacturers in the early 20th century to refer to the rear half of the body tub of a car - which, if you picture early cars, often looked like some kind of cask. So, a tonneau side is the rear quarter of a car body and a tonneau cover is - obviously - the cover over the tonneau. All is clear at last.

Easy to use. Put the sticks in the bag and tie the bag closed with a neat bow. As if you needed telling.

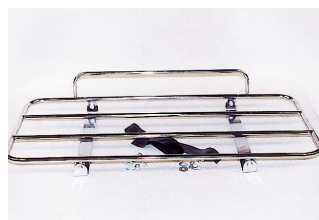

No tools required.
